The last book in the New Testament canon, yet in fact one of the oldest; probably the only Judæo-Christian work which has survived the Paulinian transformation of the Church. The introductory verse betrays the complicated character of the whole work. It presents the book as a "Revelation which God gave . . . to show unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass," and at the same time as a revelation of Jesus Christ to "his servant John." Manuscript: 11QMelch (11Q13)

Commentary: P. Kohelski

Length: 3 columns (c. 42

Script: Late Hasmonaean

Melchizedek

... this will occur in the first week of the Jubilee that follows the nine Jubilees. And the Day of Atonement is the end of the tenth Jubilee, when all the sons of [light] and the men of the lot of Melchizedek will be atoned for. (11QMelch, 27-8)

Melchizedek appears three times in the Bible. In Genesis 14:18, he is a mysterious 'King of Salem' and priest of 'God Most High', to whom Abraham gives a tithe. In Psalm 110:4 the king is addressed as 'a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek', while in Hebrews 5-7 Melchizedek and his rank form the basis for the author's presentation of Jesus as a high priest. A king-priest, this figure was an important prototype for the Hasmonaean priest-kings and for those looking for a messiah to combine both the anointed offices.

The text of the document is unfortunately only partially preserved, and in 10 fragments. Only the second of the three columns that can be made out preserves any readable text (col. 2 has odd words in about eight lines) – a total of roughly two dozen incomplete lines. Many of the fragments contain biblical texts, which makes it easier to reconstruct the flow. It is like the Florilegium (see p. 126), a 'thematic' commentary, interpreting texts from different parts of the scriptures on the basis of a topical link, not interpreting texts from a single book and in sequence, as in the Commentaries on Habakkuk or Nahum. Here it differs from the pesherim, although it includes some passages that begin with the word pesher and introduce pesher-like equations of biblical words or phrases with people or objects. The overall theme of the composition (or at least of what has been preserved of it) is the final deliverance of Israel from its sin through a Day of Atonement sacrifice by the heavenly high priest Melchizedek, which will be accompanied by the destruction of the wicked.

The argument is built up through the association of texts from different scriptural books, starting with Leviticus 25:13 and Deuteronomy 15:2, which legislate for the sabbatical and Jubilee years (7th and 49th/50th). Deuteronomy calls this a 'year of release', and Isaiah 61:1 is the next text cited because it speaks of proclamation of freedom for captives in the 'year of the Lord's favour' (hence 'year of release' is identified as 'year of favour'). A piece of pesher exegesis explains that the captives will join the 'children of Heaven' and the 'party of Melchizedek', and that this will occur in the first week after the end of the ninth Jubilee. Then at the end of the tenth Jubilee, the 'children of light' and the party of Melchizedek will be atoned for. Melchizedek, in fact, is being identified in places where the biblical texts speak of 'God', and this is justified by citing Psalm 82, where 'God' judges in the divine assembly. This judgment by 'God' is interpreted (a pesher again) as a judgment against 'Belial and the spirits of his lot' who rebelled against God's precepts. Hence 'God' (as in 'sons of God', e.g. Genesis 6:2) can be taken to refer to any divine being.

The view to the east from the inside of Cave 11.

The argument moves on: 'this is the day... of which Isaiah the prophet spoke: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the messenger..." (Isaiah 52:7). Isaiah's mountains are interpreted (another pesher section) as the prophets, while the 'messenger' is the 'one anointed by the spirit', a prince foretold in Daniel 9:25. The 'bearer of good tidings' in Isaiah 52:7 is then identified with the 'comforter' of Isaiah 61:2-3, bringing the interpretation full circle back to the 'year of favour'.

The task of this anointed 'comforter' is to give solace by helping the 'afflicted' to understand the course of history. For eventually, God will reign in 'Zion', which is interpreted as referring to those who 'abandon the ways of the people'. The column ends

... this will occur in the first week of the Jubilee that follows the nine Jubilees. And the Day of Atonement is the end of the tenth Jubilee, when all the sons of [light] and the men of the lot of Melchizedek will be atoned for. (11QMelch, 27-8)

Melchizedek appears three times in the Bible. In Genesis 14:18, he is a mysterious 'King of Salem' and priest of 'God Most High', to whom Abraham gives a tithe. In Psalm 110:4 the king is addressed as 'a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek', while in Hebrews 5-7 Melchizedek and his rank form the basis for the author's presentation of Jesus as a high priest. A king-priest, this figure was an important prototype for the Hasmonaean priest-kings and for those looking for a messiah to combine both the anointed offices.

The text of the document is unfortunately only partially preserved, and in 10 fragments. Only the second of the three columns that can be made out preserves any readable text (col. 2 has odd words in about eight lines) – a total of roughly two dozen incomplete lines. Many of the fragments contain biblical texts, which makes it easier to reconstruct the flow. It is like the Florilegium (see p. 126), a 'thematic' commentary, interpreting texts from different parts of the scriptures on the basis of a topical link, not interpreting texts from a single book and in sequence, as in the Commentaries on Habakkuk or Nahum. Here it differs from the pesherim, although it includes some passages that begin with the word pesher and introduce pesher-like equations of biblical words or phrases with people or objects. The overall theme of the composition (or at least of what has been preserved of it) is the final deliverance of Israel from its sin through a Day of Atonement sacrifice by the heavenly high priest Melchizedek, which will be accompanied by the destruction of the wicked.

The argument is built up through the association of texts from different scriptural books, starting with Leviticus 25:13 and Deuteronomy 15:2, which legislate for the sabbatical and Jubilee years (7th and 49th/50th). Deuteronomy calls this a 'year of release', and Isaiah 61:1 is the next text cited because it speaks of proclamation of freedom for captives in the 'year of the Lord's favour' (hence 'year of release' is identified as 'year of favour'). A piece of pesher exegesis explains that the captives will join the 'children of Heaven' and the 'party of Melchizedek', and that this will occur in the first week after the end of the ninth Jubilee. Then at the end of the tenth Jubilee, the 'children of light' and the party of Melchizedek will be atoned for. Melchizedek, in fact, is being identified in places where the biblical texts speak of 'God', and this is justified by citing Psalm 82, where 'God' judges in the divine assembly. This judgment by 'God' is interpreted (a pesher again) as a judgment against 'Belial and the spirits of his lot' who rebelled against God's precepts. Hence 'God' (as in 'sons of God', e.g. Genesis 6:2) can be taken to refer to any divine being.

The view to the east from the inside of Cave 11.

The argument moves on: 'this is the day... of which Isaiah the prophet spoke: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the messenger..." (Isaiah 52:7). Isaiah's mountains are interpreted (another pesher section) as the prophets, while the 'messenger' is the 'one anointed by the spirit', a prince foretold in Daniel 9:25. The 'bearer of good tidings' in Isaiah 52:7 is then identified with the 'comforter' of Isaiah 61:2-3, bringing the interpretation full circle back to the 'year of favour'.

The task of this anointed 'comforter' is to give solace by helping the 'afflicted' to understand the course of history. For eventually, God will reign in 'Zion', which is interpreted as referring to those who 'abandon the ways of the people'. The column ends

ARK OF THE COVENANT(Hebrew, אֲרוֹן הַבְּרִית, etc.: for the complete list of names of the Ark, see below).

(Redirected from CHEST.)

By: Morris Jastrow, Jr., Charles J. Mendelsohn, Marcus Jastrow, Isaac Husik, Duncan B. McDonald, George A. Barton

Dimensions and Construction.

—Biblical Data:

The first mention of the Ark in the Bible is in Ex. xxv. 10 et seq., where Moses on Mount Sinai is told to have an Ark of shittim-wood made for the Commandments which are about to be delivered. Minute directions are given for the plan of the Ark. It is to be 2½ cubits in length, 1½ in breadth, and 1½ in height. It is to be overlaid within and without with gold, and a crown or molding of gold is to be put around it. Four rings of gold are to be put into its corners—two on each side—and through these rings staves of shittim-wood overlaid with gold for carrying the Ark are to be inserted; and these are not to be removed. A golden cover (Hebr. כִּסֵּי; A. V., "mercy-seat"), adorned with golden cherubim, is to be placed above the Ark; and from here the Lord says He will speak to Moses (Ex. xxv. 10-22). The Ark is to be placed behind a veil, a full description of which is given (ib. xxvi. 31-33).

Ark of the Covenant.(After Calmet.)

Sanctity and Consecration.

Even Aaron was forbidden to enter this place of the Ark too often; and he was enjoined to perform certain ceremonies when entering there (Lev. xvi. 2 et seq.). Moses was directed to consecrate the Ark, when completed, with the oil of holy ointment (Ex.

Because of your generous support, more babies will merit seeing the light of day. EFRAT has brought to this world with your generous support more than 80,000 babies and with your help will continue to empower women to grow their families and keep the babies they want. We couldn't do it without you!

LEGACY FUND

Dear Edward Villa,

Thank you for your generous gift of $17.96!

This is a receipt for your gracious donation to the Efrat Organization.

Because of your generous support, more babies will merit seeing the light of day. EFRAT has brought to this world with your generous support more than 80,000 babies and with your help will continue to empower women to grow their families and keep the babies they want. We couldn't do it without you!

Were it not for your contribution, which supports pregnant women in financial and emotional distress, a woman would have terminated her pregnancy. Thousands of pregnant women each year in need turn to us for assistance. Thanks to your help we are able to support these women and help them bring their babies into the world with dignity and raise them with peace of mind.

May you and your family be blessed with good health, happiness and prosperity.

Sincerely,

Chagai Goldshmidt, CEO
Nir Salomon, Executive Director

Thank you for your generous donation!

Dear Mr. Villa,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your recent contribution to Toys for Hospitalized Children.

For over 70 years the National Committee for the Furtherance of Jewish Education (NCFJE) has sponsored the Toy Drive which was initiated by Rabbi Jacob J. Hecht of blessed memory. Today, the Toy Drive brings gifts and cheer to thousands of children of all races and religions, as well as gifts to the elderly in nursing homes and health facilities in the tri-state area and throughout the U.S. With your support we will continue to carry on and expand this most important mission.

May the spirit of giving bring happiness and joy into your life and the lives of those dear to you with good health, nachas and all good things, materially and spiritually.

Sincerely yours,

Rabbi Shloma L. Abramowitz

What is Chedvata?

Chedvata: Israel's First Haredi Hesder + College! Program Founded by Haredim in 2017.

Chedvata has three components:

- 1 Torah Study – in the mornings;
- 2 Academic Study – in the afternoons;
- 3 Military Service – in a Haredi IDF Unit.

Chedvata students earn an academic degree from Ashkelon College in fields such as computer programming, cybersecurity warfare or electrical engineering with additional degree options being added every year.

Why is Chedvata attracting so many Haredi youth?

Since the start of the war, thousands of Haredi boys, outraged by the atrocities of Oct 7th, wanted to join Chedvata's program, but were unable to do so due to a lack of funding. Many choose Chedvata because of its high spiritual standards, enabling them to keep to their religious standards. Also word got out that Chedvata has created a tight community, with festive Shabbatons and other informal programming. Creating a joyous community, has been a top priority since our inception and is the reason the founders of this program chose the name "Chedvata" which means "Joy".

Why haven't I heard about Chedvata before?

Until now Chedvata was funded exclusively by the Israeli government. While the government still supports the program, greater funding is needed to accommodate the high demand of more students, build more buildings for classrooms and for housing and to provide tuition scholarships for the many Haredim who want to join Chedvata.

Currently Chedvata has over 400 student-recruits.
With your help we can expand our program to the thousands.

Bottom line: Chedvata strengthens Israel in every way, militarily, economically and socially by greatly increasing the unity within Israeli society.

If you see a poor man or woman on the street or an elderly struggling with their things
Do not pass them by
Go up to them and lovingly and kindly give them a $50.00 Fifty Dollar or a $100.00 One – Hundred Dollar U.S. Bill or even more
Many many many years ago
my mother and I were together in the car and she told me to go and give the poor person some money into their hands
Even now
She kindly feeds a poor man living across the street in the park where I live almost daily
Even I give alms even if they are extra coins or dollars into The Poor's hands even giving them advice to purchase a cold ice filled water cup in the heat
I have given money even fed so many people at my local dining restaurants when so many others would deny them The Poor food

Dear Friend,

How many times did you press a "START" button today?

-  Did you start your coffee machine?
-  Turn on your phone?
-  Start a load of laundry?

What if you could press a button and start 5787 in the best possible way, with blessings of joy, health, peace of mind, and everything else you're hoping for?

We have such a button!

You can find it inside the envelope, on the enclosed card. All you have to do is scan the QR code, fill out the donation form, or click "Donate" at www.satmarbikurcholim.org

When you do that, you push the  button on a sweet new year - for yourself and for the thousands of patients who depend on Satmar Bikur Cholim.

You see, so many people will be fighting for their lives at the start of the year. They won't be in shul. They won't sit at a Rosh Hashanah meal with family. They won't be greeted by friends wishing them a shana tova.

But they can still experience a sweet start to the year - because we'll be sending them everything they need for Rosh Hashanah.

When a patient gets a holiday meal from Satmar Bikur Cholim, he's not just getting nutritious home-style food. He's getting a touch of home! Chaim P. describes the experience:

"When I got a diagnosis on Erev Rosh Hashanah, I thought it was a bad way to start the year. Then I got a holiday meal from the Satmar Bikur Cholim that infused me with hope."

Honey! Carrots! Pomegranates! Every item filled with meaning – and prepared with so much care! Satmar Bikur Cholim brought Yom Tov to my bedside. They helped me start the year right."

Satmar Bikur Cholim gives patients a fresh start every day – with our famous chicken soup, homemade cake, and other delicious foods.

Think of it: when a hungry patient eats a serving of chicken soup, he gets a real-life boost. It's like someone's pushing the button to goodness, even to life! There's so much warmth and caring in every bowl!

Join us in pressing  on a great year for patients – and for your family. Because the merit of giving others the food they need while they battle for life will help bring you and your loved ones a year of life, health, and prosperity.

Shana Tova,

Channa Kahan
President

P.S. Satmar Bikur Cholim has many ways to press the  button on life and healing. We help pay for medical care, feed entire families, and have an entire cadre of volunteers who spread cheer and support patients. See the enclosed card to learn how you can join us in everything we do.

"Satmar Bikur Cholim sent meals to my family for all the weeks we spent in the hospital with my baby. Those delicious meals kept coming – every Shabbos, every Yom Tov, every day."

Rivka H.

Manuscript: 11QMelch
(11Q13)

Editor: A.S. van der

Woude (DID 23)

Commentary: F. Kohelski

Length: 3 columns (c. 42 cm, 18 in)

Script: Late Hasmonaean

Melchizedek

... this will occur in the first week of the Jubilee that follows the nine Jubilees. And the Day of Atonement is the end of the tenth Jubilee, when all the sons of [light] and the men of the lot of Melchizedek will be atoned for. (11QMelch, 27-8)

Melchizedek appears three times in the Bible. In Genesis 14:18, he is a mysterious 'King of Salem' and priest of 'God Most High', to whom Abraham gives a tithe. In Psalm 110:4 the king is addressed as 'a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek', while in Hebrews 5-7 Melchizedek and his rank form the basis for the author's presentation of Jesus as a high priest. A king-priest, this figure was an important prototype for the Hasmonaean priest-kings and for those looking for a messiah to combine both the anointed offices.

The text of the document is unfortunately only partially preserved, and in 10 fragments. Only the second of the three columns that can be made out preserves any readable text (col. 2 has odd words in about eight lines) – a total of roughly two dozen incomplete lines. Many of the fragments contain biblical texts, which makes it easier to reconstruct the flow. It is like the Florilegium (see p. 126), a 'thematic' commentary, interpreting texts from different parts of the scriptures on the basis of a topical link, not interpreting texts from a single book and in sequence, as in the Commentaries on Habakkuk or Nahum. Here it differs from the pesherim, although it includes some passages that begin with the word pesher and introduce pesher-like equations of biblical words or phrases with people or objects. The overall theme of the composition (or at least of what has been preserved of it) is the final deliverance of Israel from its sin through a Day of Atonement sacrifice by the heavenly high priest Melchizedek, which will be accompanied by the destruction of the wicked.

The argument is built up through the association of texts from different scriptural books, starting with Leviticus 25:13 and Deuteronomy 15:2, which legislate for the sabbatical and Jubilee years (7th and 49th/50th). Deuteronomy calls this a 'year of release', and Isaiah 61:1 is the next text cited because it speaks of proclamation of freedom for captives in the 'year of the Lord's favour' (hence 'year of release' is identified as 'year of favour'). A piece of pesher exegesis explains that the captives will join the 'children of Heaven' and the 'party of Melchizedek', and that this will occur in the first week after the end of the ninth Jubilee. Then at the end of the tenth Jubilee, the 'children of light' and the party of Melchizedek will be atoned for. Melchizedek, in fact, is being identified in places where the biblical texts speak of 'God', and this is justified by citing Psalm 82, where 'God' judges in the divine assembly. This judgment by 'God' is interpreted (a pesher again) as a judgment against 'Belial and the spirits of his lot' who rebelled against God's precepts. Hence 'God' (as in 'sons of God', e.g. Genesis 6:2) can be taken to refer to any divine being.

The view to the east from the inside of Cave 11.

The argument moves on: 'this is the day... of which Isaiah the prophet spoke: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the messenger..." (Isaiah 52:7). Isaiah's mountains are interpreted (another pesher section) as the prophets, while the 'messenger' is the 'one anointed by the spirit', a prince foretold in Daniel 9:25. The 'bearer of good tidings' in Isaiah 52:7 is then identified with the 'comforter' of Isaiah 61:2-3, bringing the interpretation full circle back to the 'year of favour'.

The task of this anointed 'comforter' is to give solace by helping the 'afflicted' to understand the course of history. For eventually, God will reign in 'Zion', which is interpreted as referring to those who 'abandon the ways of the people'. The column ends

(11Q13)

Woude (DID 23)

Commentary: P. Kohelski

Length: 3 columns (c. 42
cm, 18 in)

Script: Late Hasmonaean

Melchizedek

... this will occur in the first week of the Jubilee that follows the nine Jubilees. And the Day of Atonement is the end of the tenth Jubilee, when all the sons of [light] and the men of the lot of Melchizedek will be atoned for. (11QMelch, 27-8)

Melchizedek appears three times in the Bible. In Genesis 14:18, he is a mysterious 'King of Salem' and priest of 'God Most High', to whom Abraham gives a tithe. In Psalm 110:4 the king is addressed as 'a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek', while in Hebrews 5-7 Melchizedek and his rank form the basis for the author's presentation of Jesus as a high priest. A king-priest, this figure was an important prototype for the Hasmonaean priest-kings and for those looking for a messiah to combine both the anointed offices.

The text of the document is unfortunately only partially preserved, and in 10 fragments. Only the second of the three columns that can be made out preserves any readable text (col. 2 has odd words in about eight lines) – a total of roughly two dozen incomplete lines. Many of the fragments contain biblical texts, which makes it easier to reconstruct the flow. It is like the Florilegium (see p. 126), a 'thematic' commentary, interpreting texts from different parts of the scriptures on the basis of a topical link, not interpreting texts from a single book and in sequence, as in the Commentaries on Habakkuk or Nahum. Here it differs from the pesherim, although it includes some passages that begin with the word pesher and introduce pesher-like equations of biblical words or phrases with people or objects. The overall theme of the composition (or at least of what has been preserved of it) is the final deliverance of Israel from its sin through a Day of Atonement sacrifice by the heavenly high priest Melchizedek, which will be accompanied by the destruction of the wicked.

The argument is built up through the association of texts from different scriptural books, starting with Leviticus 25:13 and Deuteronomy 15:2, which legislate for the sabbatical and Jubilee years (7th and 49th/50th). Deuteronomy calls this a 'year of release', and Isaiah 61:1 is the next text cited because it speaks of proclamation of freedom for captives in the 'year of the Lord's favour' (hence 'year of release' is identified as 'year of favour'). A piece of pesher exegesis explains that the captives will join the 'children of Heaven' and the 'party of Melchizedek', and that this will occur in the first week after the end of the ninth Jubilee. Then at the end of the tenth Jubilee, the 'children of light' and the party of Melchizedek will be atoned for. Melchizedek, in fact, is being identified in places where the biblical texts speak of 'God', and this is justified by citing Psalm 82, where 'God' judges in the divine assembly. This judgment by 'God' is interpreted (a pesher again) as a judgment against 'Belial and the spirits of his lot' who rebelled against God's precepts. Hence 'God' (as in 'sons of God', e.g. Genesis 6:2) can be taken to refer to any divine being.

The view to the east from the inside of Cave 11.

The argument moves on: 'this is the day... of which Isaiah the prophet spoke: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the messenger..." (Isaiah 52:7). Isaiah's mountains are interpreted (another pesher section) as the prophets, while the 'messenger' is the 'one anointed by the spirit', a prince foretold in Daniel 9:25. The 'bearer of good tidings' in Isaiah 52:7 is then identified with the 'comforter' of Isaiah 61:2-3, bringing the interpretation full circle back to the 'year of favour'.

The task of this anointed 'comforter' is to give solace by helping the 'afflicted' to understand the course of history. For eventually, God will reign in 'Zion', which is interpreted as referring to those who 'abandon the ways of the people'. The column ends

Dimensions and Construction.

—Biblical Data:

The first mention of the Ark in the Bible is in Ex. xxv. 10 et seq., where Moses on Mount Sinai is told to have an Ark of shittim-wood made for the Commandments which are about to be delivered. Minute directions are given for the plan of the Ark. It is to be 2½ cubits in length, 1½ in breadth, and 1½ in height. It is to be overlaid within and without with gold, and a crown or molding of gold is to be put around it. Four rings of gold are to be put into its corners—two on each side—and through these rings staves of shittim-wood overlaid with gold for carrying the Ark are to be inserted; and these are not to be removed. A golden cover (Hebr. כִּסֵּי; A. V., "mercy-seat"), adorned with golden cherubim, is to be placed above the Ark; and from here the Lord says He will speak to Moses (Ex. xxv. 10-22). The Ark is to be placed behind a veil, a full description of which is given (ib. xxvi. 31-33).

Ark of the Covenant.(After Calmet.)

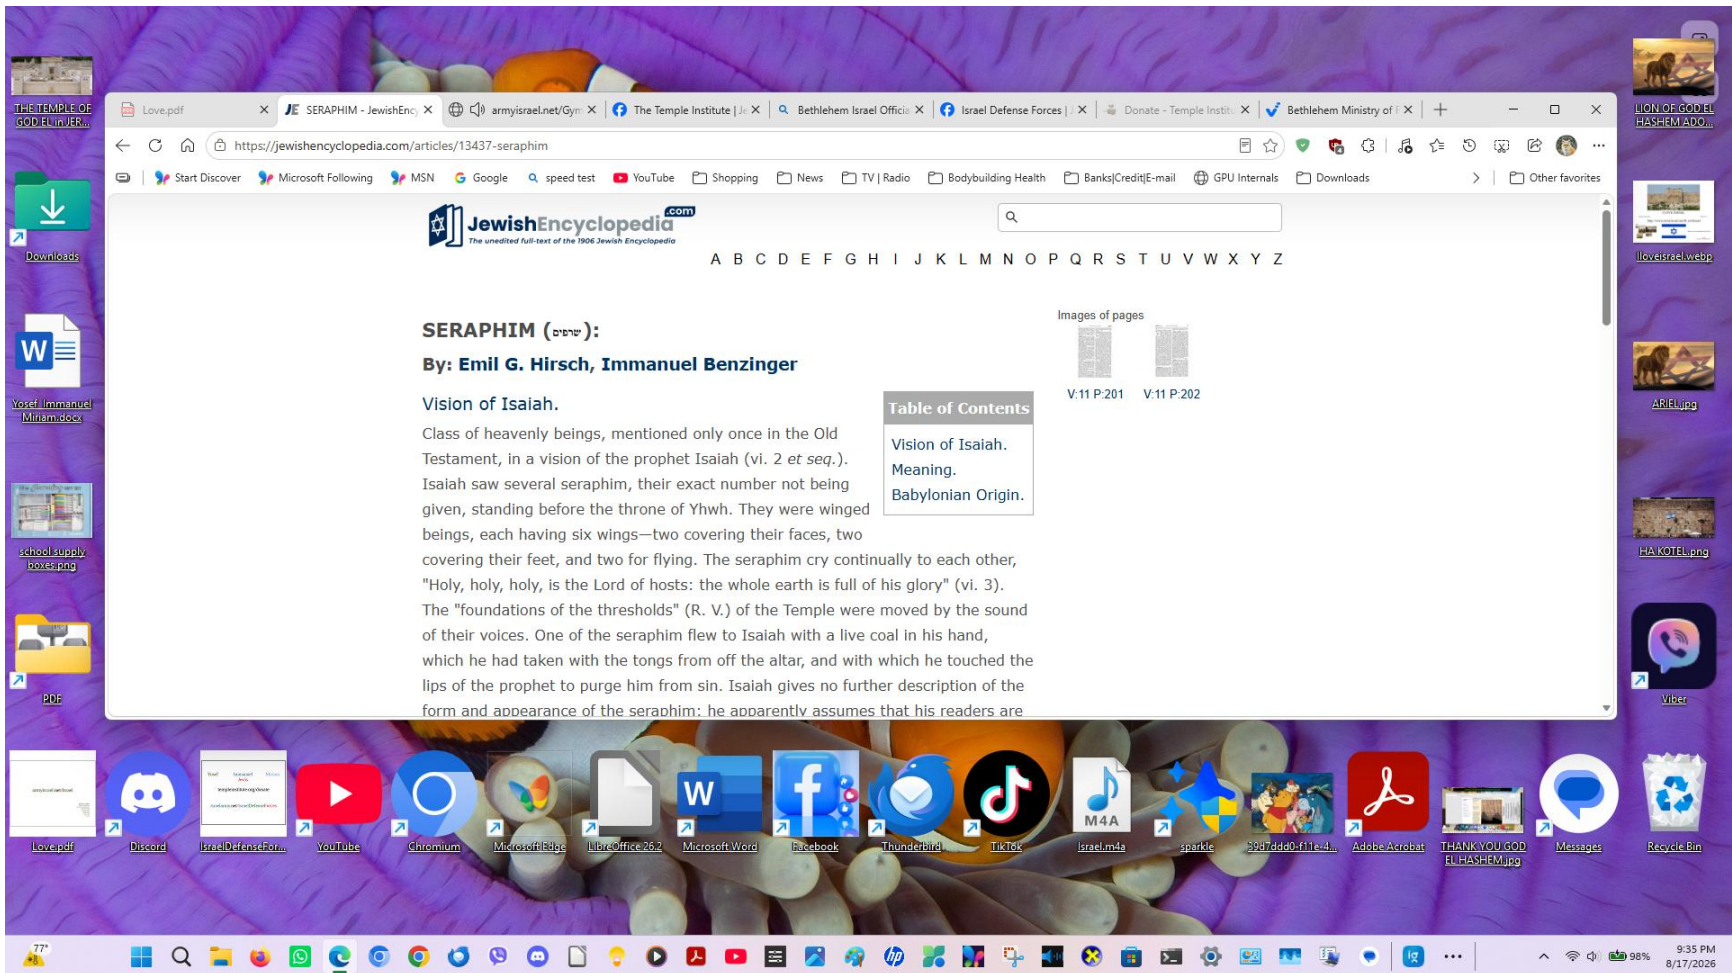

Sanctity and Consecration.

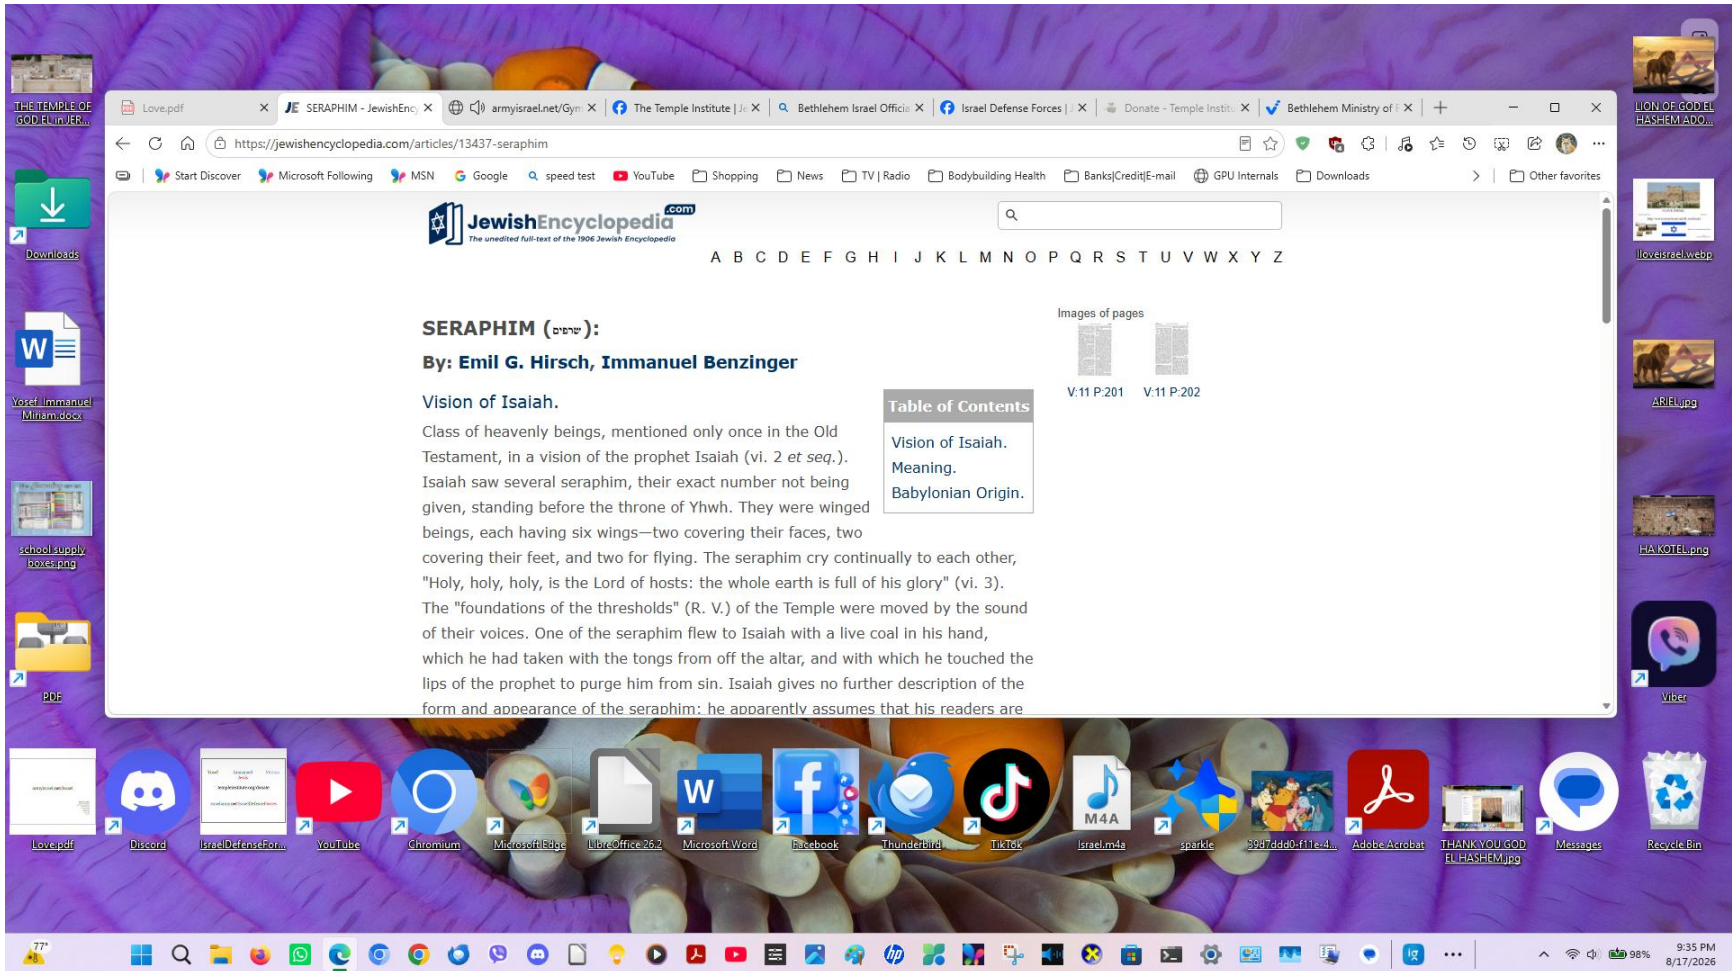

Even Aaron was forbidden to enter this place of the Ark too often; and he was enjoined to perform certain ceremonies when entering there (Lev. xvi. 2 et seq.). Moses was directed to consecrate the Ark, when completed, with the oil of holy ointment (Ex.

Dear Edward Villa,

Thank you for your generous gift of $17.96!

This is a receipt for your gracious donation to the Efrat Organization.

Because of your generous support, more babies will merit seeing the light of day. EFRAT has brought to this world with your generous support more than 80,000 babies and with your help will continue to empower women to grow their families and keep the babies they want. We couldn't do it without you!

Were it not for your contribution, which supports pregnant women in financial and emotional distress, a woman would have terminated her pregnancy. Thousands of pregnant women each year in need turn to us for assistance. Thanks to your help we are able to support these women and help them bring their babies into the world with dignity and raise them with peace of mind.

May you and your family be blessed with good health, happiness and prosperity.

Sincerely,

Winter After the War

Sixteen-year-old Andrey flees bombs with nothing but a thin sweater.

Homeless. Cold. Hungry.

With nowhere safe to sleep, winter threatens what the war hasn't already stolen.

Safety, Shelter, and a Future Again

At Mishpacha, she finally sleeps without fear.

A warm bed. Hot meals. Clothing that fits. A bomb shelter steps away, and people who know her name. Tomorrow she meets with a counselor to restart school.

She's even making friends.

A Winter She Feared She Would Not Survive

At 87, Sasha has lived through the unthinkable, but this winter threatens her again.

Her apartment is dark and freezing. She rationed tea bags and bread. The stairs are impossible. Loneliness is crushing.

Warmth, Dignity, and Gentle Hands

At Mishpacha's Nursing Home, her room is bright and heated.

A caregiver walks her to a hot meal. A nurse brings her medications. A volunteer reads with her before bed. She is cared for, tenderly and completely.

Never forgotten. Never alone.

The Heart of Mishpacha

Mishpacha is a lifeline for Ukraine's most vulnerable Jewish orphans and seniors, offering safety, warmth, and the care they would otherwise go without.

This winter, your compassion rewrites their stories from cold and alone to warm and cared for.

When winter arrives and daily challenges grow, Mishpacha steps in with what they need most:

WARM, SAFE
HOUSING

DAILY EMOTIONAL
CARE

COMMUNITY AND BELONGING

MEDICAL CARE

CLOTHING AND
WINTER ESSENTIALS

Winter She Feared She Would Not Survive

Masha has lived through the unthinkable, but this winter threatens her again. Her apartment is dark and freezing. She has no hot tea bags and bread. The stairs are icy and impossible. Loneliness is crushing.

Warmth, Dignity, and Gentle Hands

At Mishpacha's Nursing Home, her room is bright and heated. A volunteer walks her to a hot meal. A nurse brings her medications. A volunteer reads with her before she is cared for, tenderly and completely. She is never forgotten. Never alone.

Your gift rewrites a child's winter.

Your gift restores dignity to those who've carried the heaviest winters.

Your compassion turns the cold into hope.

Rewrite a winter story today.

Your gift provides warmth, safety, and hope when it's needed most.

Three lives. Three stories.

Written in courage — and warmed
by your heart.

A Winter No Child Should Know

Eight-year-old Misha huddles in a freezing apartment, wrapped in every shirt he owns. His mother, lost to addiction, hasn't been home in days.

No heat. No food. No one coming home. Winter nights stretch long and silent, colder than the empty room around him.

Warmth He Can Finally Call Home

With your support, Misha races down the bright hallways of Mishpacha Children's Home.

A warm coat on his back. Homework waiting at a real desk. A hot meal. A safe bed. Caregivers tuck him in and remind him he matters. He's not invisible anymore.

He's loved. He's safe. He's home.

Subject: Wishing You a Shabbat Shalom! ❤️

From: Nir Salomon - EFRAT <nir@cribefrat.org>

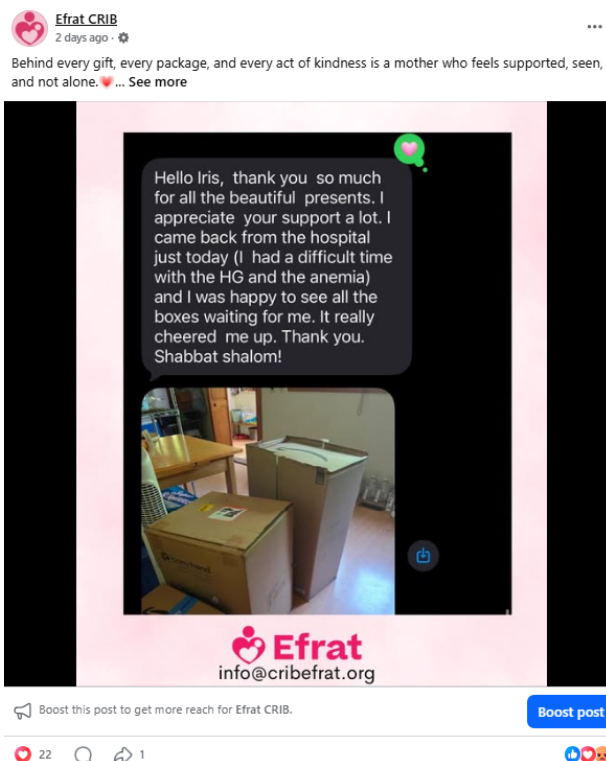

Date: 8/21/2026, 6:06 AM

To: Edward Francisco Villa <edwardvilla1983@gmail.com>

Hello Edward Francisco,

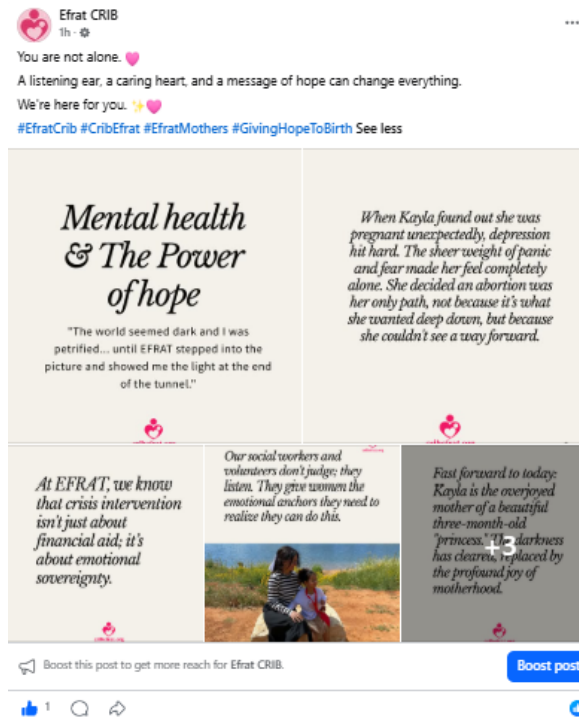

This week, we shared a heartfelt message from one of our EFRAT mothers. Her words are a beautiful reminder that the support you help provide goes far beyond the practical essentials. In a difficult moment, knowing that someone is there can bring comfort, encouragement, and a much-needed sense of hope.

That same message of hope is at the heart of our latest mental health carousel, where we shared Kayla's journey. Her story reminds us that when a woman is overwhelmed by fear, uncertainty, or emotional struggles, compassionate support can help her see that there is a way forward. At EFRAT, we believe no mother should have to face those moments alone.

Thank you for helping us be there for mothers, not only with what they need, but with the hope and support they need to keep moving forward. ✨

Please be sure to give these posts a 👍 or ❤️. Every like, comment, and share has an impact & will be a tremendous help in spreading the word about EFRAT's work. ❤️

Together, we will continue to help women, build families, protect and nurture life.

Wishing you a Shabbat Shalom,

Nir Safonon

Nir Salomon

Subject: Purim Joy for Sick Kids, When They Need it Most

From: JJ Hecht <jj@toyshc.org>

Date: 3/2/2026, 9:41 AM

To: Edward <edwardfranciscovilla@mail.com>

Dear Edward,

Happy Purim!

Our team is working around the clock to ensure hospitalized children smile and experience the joy of Purim. Our team is bringing happiness to sick children in the US and Israel and gifting them silly graggers, hamantashen, and toys to spread Purim joy.

There is added fear and isolation now in Israel, as many children are celebrating Purim in bunkers. Our volunteers are distributing mishloach manot and toys to bring them joy.

To continue the celebration, on Wednesday, we will host a Purim party for severely sick children and their families here in NYC.

With prayers for the safety of our brethren in the Holy Land and healing for all Jewish children.

Happy Purim!

SHALLUM.

By: Emil G. Hirsch, E. I. Nathans, Wilhelm Bacher, Louis Ginzberg

—Biblical Data:

1. King of Israel who dethroned Zechariah, the last of Jehu's dynasty, and succeeded him. He was in turn dethroned by Menahem (II Kings xv. 10-16).
2. Son of Josiah, King of Judah (Jer. xxii. 11). Probably the term is used merely as an epithet = "the desired one"; hence I Chron. iii. 15 makes Shallum the fourth son of Josiah.
3. Husband of Huldah, the prophetess (II Kings xxii. 14).

—In Rabbinical Literature:

Even at the time of the prophet Elisha, Shallum was one of the most eminent men ("mi-gedole ha-dor") in the country. Yet he did not think it beneath his dignity to lend personal aid to the poor and the needy. It was one of his daily habits to go outside the gates of the city in order that he might give water to thirsty wanderers. God rewarded him by endowing him and his wife Huldah with the gift of prophecy.

Jonathan and David.
—In Rabbinical Literature:

1. Son or descendant of Gershom, son of Moses. He officiated as a priest to the idol of Micah—a service continued in his family till the Israelites were driven from their country (Judges xviii. 30). In the passage in which Jonathan's parentage is mentioned "Moses" is written with a suspended y, so that it may be read "Manasseh"; and this reading is given by the Septuagint. On the other hand, the only son of Gershom, son of Moses, is called "Shebuel" in I Chron. xxiii. 16. Still, according to the Talmudists and to Jerome, Jonathan was the descendant of Moses. The Talmudists declare (B. B. 109b) that the "nun" was inserted in the name of this Moses out of respect to the great lawgiver, and that the former's name was changed to "Manasseh" because the wickedness of Jonathan resembled that of King Manasseh. They identify Jonathan with the above-mentioned Shebuel (ib. 110a), saying that he was so

David Consoles Saul.

—Biblical Data:

Second King of Israel; according to I Chron. ii. 15, the youngest of the seven sons of Jesse the Bethlehemite; or, according to I Sam. xvi. 10 et seq., xvii. 12, the youngest of eight sons. His adventurous career before he became king was evidently a popular theme in Israel; and so many incidents were woven around his early years that it is now impossible to construct a strictly historic account from the traditions preserved. David kept his father's sheep, and found opportunities to

SOLOMON (סְלוֹמֹן):
By: Emil G. Hirsch, Ira Maurice Price, Wilhelm Bacher, M. Seligsohn, Mary W. Montgomery, Crawford Howell Toy

Third king of all Israel; reigned from about 971 to 931 B.C.; second son of David and Bath-sheba (II Sam. xii. 23-25). He was called Jedidiah (= "beloved of Yhwh") by Nathan the prophet, the Chronicler (I Chron. xxii. 9) assuming that David was told by Yhwh that his son's name should be Solomon (= "peaceful"). These two names are predictive of the character of his reign, which was both highly favored and peaceful.

CALEB.

By: Morris Jastrow, Jr., George A. Barton, Marcus Jastrow, Louis Ginzberg

—Biblical Data:
According to the Biblical text, Caleb was of the tribe of Judah. He represented that tribe among the twelve spies whom Moses sent from the wilderness to spy out Canaan. He and Joshua alone brought back an encouraging report, and in consequence were the only ones of all that came out of Egypt who were permitted to survive and enter Canaan (Num. xiii. 6, 30; xiv. passim; xxvi. 65; xxxii. 12; xxxiv. 19; Deut. i. 36). After the conquest he was given Hebron and the region around it. In the conquest of this territory he offered the hand of Achsah, his daughter, to the man who would capture Hebron for him; the feat was accomplished and the maiden won by Caleb's younger brother, Othniel. To him was assigned the south land, to which later, at Achsah's request, "the upper springs" were added (Josh. xiv., xv.; and Judges i. passim). His name is connected with several towns in southern Judah (I Chron. ii.

RAHAB (רַחַב = "broad").

By: Emil G. Hirsch, M. Seligsohn, Executive Committee of the Editorial Board.

—Biblical Data:

A woman of Jericho who sheltered the spies sent by Joshua to search out the land. Having arrived at Jericho, the two spies remained at Rahab's house, situated in the wall of the city and having a window on the outside (Josh. ii. 1, 15). Rahab was ordered by the king, who had been informed of the arrival of the spies, to deliver them to him; she, however, hid them on the roof and declared that they had come and gone without her knowing who they were (ii. 3-6). In her conversation with the spies upon the roof, Rahab proved to have been well informed of the progress of the Israelites since they had crossed the Red Sea. She told them that she was certain of their final conquest of the land, and asked them to reward her by sparing herself and her whole family—her father, mother, brothers, and sisters, all of whom lived in the interior of the city (ii. 8-14).

Standing Shoulder to Shoulder

Standing Shoulder to Shoulder

FLA 11356

Dear Edward,

It has been a year of emotional upheaval for Israel's soldiers.

From the highs of Operation Roaring Lion to the ongoing international pressure on Israel, this has been a year of anxiety, shock, and also triumph. Israel's soldiers are fighting in Gaza, in Lebanon, and facing threats from Iran and its network of proxies across the region. The war has not wound down; rather, it has expanded and the burden on soldiers and their families has grown heavier with every passing month.

Only the Israel Defense Forces (IDF) and the Ministry of Defense (MoD) know exactly what our soldiers need. And their first call is to us, Friends of the IDF (FIDF), to fund those needs. Our three core pillars, health, well-being, and education, guide every grant we make and program we fund, often with partners on the ground.

Edward, your support ensures that we stand shoulder to shoulder with our soldiers and their families each and every day. Your generosity has made groundbreaking support possible:

For their Health:

- A partnership with MoD to build a new state-of-the-art Traumatic Brain Injury Center in Tel Aviv
- Construction of the first-ever IDF Center for Mental Health and Resilience, a sprawling campus for active-duty soldiers suffering from trauma slated to be completed by 2028
- A partnership with Brothers for Life to support wounded soldiers with financial support, prosthetics, and rehabilitation

For their Well-Being:

- Recharge Weeks — a five-day restorative program to revitalize and empower active-duty soldiers and reservists, providing emotional healing and physical renewal to help them persevere with strength and resilience

For their Education:

- The Safra v'Saifa Academic Program for Haredi Combat Soldiers, a first-of-its-kind initiative designed specifically for young Haredi men to help them serve as combat soldiers while earning an academic degree—without compromising their religious observance.
- The "AIR Team" program, a joint national educational initiative of the Ramon Foundation and the Israeli Air Force. As part of the program, women study aviation, space, and technology-related subjects, opening doors for them to serve in the Air Force and pursue future careers in these fields.

This past year, hundreds of thousands of IDF soldiers, reservists, and family members have summoned extraordinary courage, manifesting in awe-inspiring heroism that surpasses anything we could have imagined. They have risen against evil on multiple fronts and will not stop until security is restored.

Your gift of $360, $100, or $50 today will support their healing and help rebuild their futures.

FIDF has been standing shoulder to shoulder alongside Israel's soldiers for 45 years as their designated U.S. partner, providing critical support for their health, well-being, and education. FIDF has sent more than $355 million to Israel since 2023 when the war began for direct support of soldiers, reservists, veterans, and their families.

You, our FIDF community, understand the urgent need to support the heroes who are protecting the State of Israel, an island of democracy. We remain steadfast in our mission to stand with those who are upholding our values and freedom. Your gift ensures this can happen.

As we start this new year, FIDF is committed to continually supporting the soldiers defending Israel on every front. Their needs are still as urgent as ever. As we gather with our loved ones for the holidays, it is crucial that we acknowledge the sacrifices bravely endured by those standing on the front lines, protecting Israel and Western civilization itself. We stand shoulder to shoulder—you, our soldiers, their families, America, and Israel.

Please help us support the soldiers who ensure that our children and our children's children can enjoy the freedom we all hold so dear, for generations to come.

With deepest gratitude and best wishes for a shana tova.

Fred Distenfeld
National Chairman

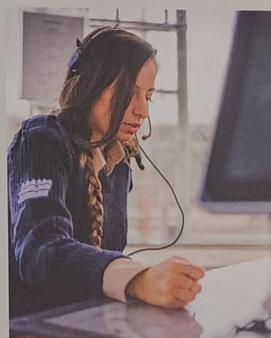

Maj. Gen. (Res.) Nadav Padan
Chief Executive Officer

P.S. Please don't wait. Your support brings strength to soldiers, reservists, veterans, and families who urgently need care. The enclosed greeting cards offer an easy way to share wishes throughout the year with those you love — and a represent a meaningful statement of your support for the courageous soldiers who are risking their lives for our future.

Standing Shoulder to Shoulder

For 45 years, Friends of the Israel Defense Forces (FIDF) has stood shoulder to shoulder with Israel's soldiers, providing critical support as they defend their families, their communities, and the future of the nation.

Looking ahead, FIDF remains committed to meeting the most urgent and evolving needs on the ground. Our mission is rooted in three core areas: health, well-being, and education of Israel's frontline defenders, who stand at the center of Israel's security and future.

The following initiatives represent FIDF's top priorities for the year ahead. These investments support today's soldiers and help build a stronger, more unified, and more resilient Israeli society for generations to come.

Critical Health Care

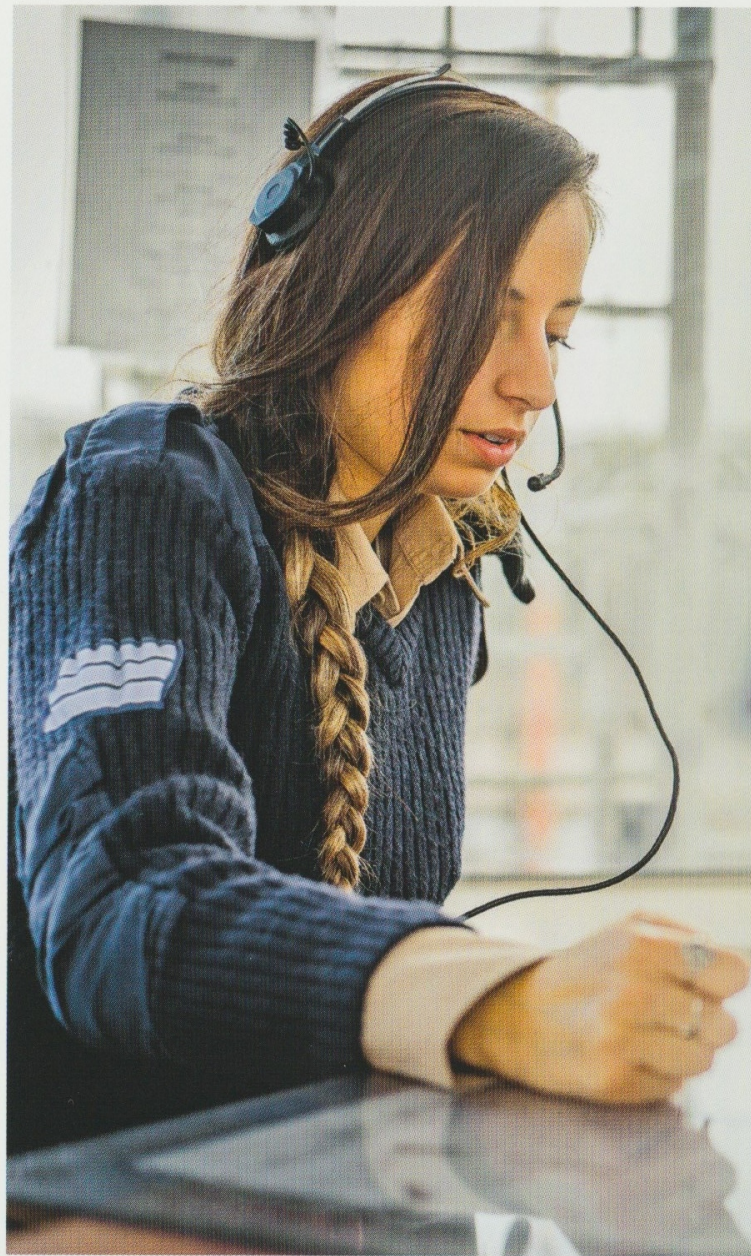

Recovery for physical and psychological wounds

IDF soldiers who have suffered lifelong injuries or losses protecting the State of Israel deserve to live a fulfilling life. Whether physical or psychological wounds, FIDF assists with their recoveries, strengthening their mental and physical capabilities and providing the support they need to find happiness.

Operational ambulances and cutting edge medical supplies can mean the difference between life and death for Israel's brave soldiers. With these innovative mobile medical vehicles, outfitted with advanced healthcare equipment, and staffed with a doctor or paramedic, life-saving treatment can happen immediately, even in the most serious cases.

FIDF has established vital partnerships with Sheba Medical Center and Cohen Veterans Network (CVN) to bring CVN's proven model of care to Israel through specialized military family clinics. These community-based clinics offer specialized therapy for IDF reservists, veterans, and their families.

Empowering Education

Building the leaders of tomorrow

The Safra v'Saifa Academic program for Haredi Combat Soldiers answers a unique need in Israeli society. This program provides higher education, Torah study, and a structured pathway into IDF combat service. For the first time, participants can:

- Serve in IDF combat units
- Earn an academic degree from Ono Academic College
- Maintain a fully Haredi lifestyle, including ongoing religious studies

The "AIR Team" program invests in women from Israel's periphery, providing five years of training that builds skills, confidence, and opportunity to become pilots. Participants take part in professional workshops, empowerment sessions, encounters with inspiring female role models, and tours of leading organizations in innovation, aviation, and defense.

Holistic Well-Being

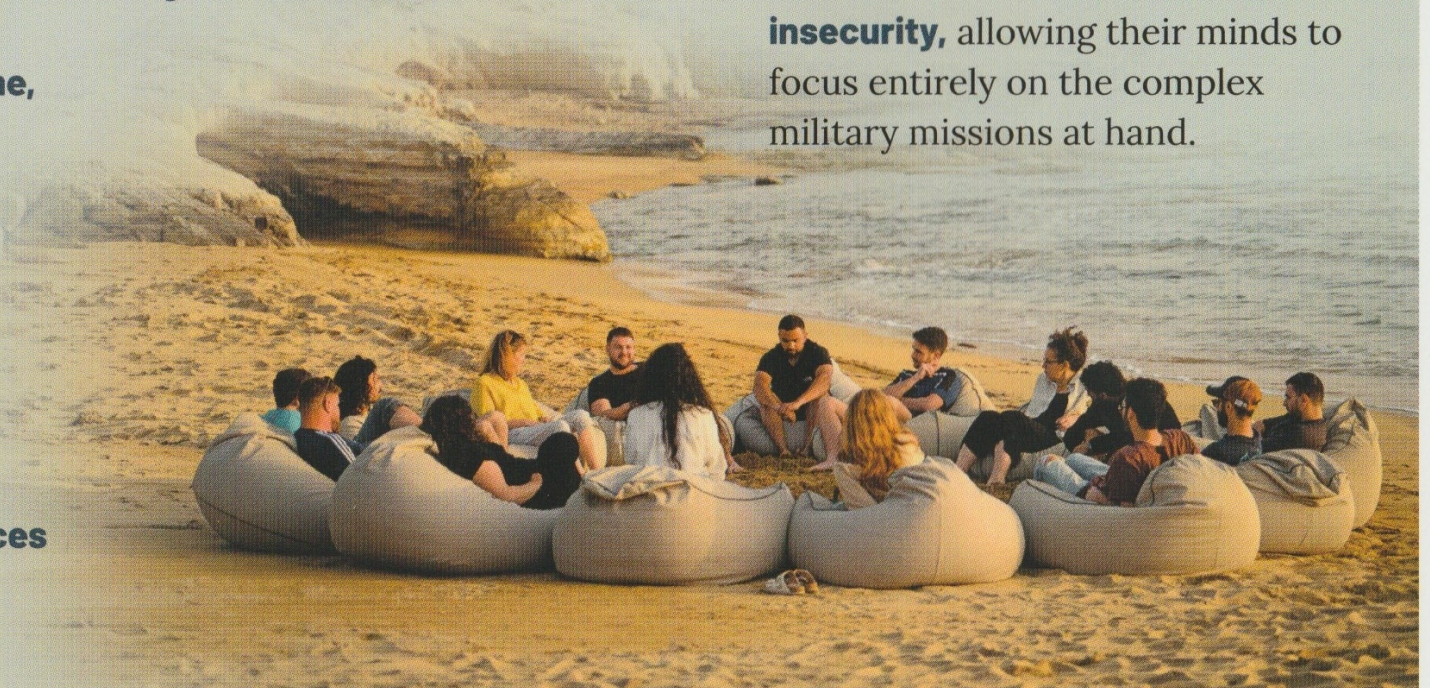

Supporting Lone Soldiers, Reservists, Bereaved Families

There are approximately 7,000 young men and women actively serving in the IDF with no immediate family in Israel to rely on. We provide practical, social, and emotional support for all the brave soldiers including financial assistance, flights home, holiday meals, and housing.

Through the After the Shiva program, over 118 bereaved families have been paired with U.S. donors and provided with financial and emotional support for three years. Our Legacy Programs: Everbound Experiences brings children to the United States for 10 days every summer to find joy, friendship, and support from fellow campers and counselors who have experienced similar losses, renewing their hope for a brighter future.

For reservists who have served hundreds of days in active duty this year, we provide services and financial assistance for them and their families aimed at alleviating financial stress and economic insecurity, allowing their minds to focus entirely on the complex military missions at hand.

Critical Health Care

admired the Romans (as did Josephus), most of the preserved Jewish literature from Palestine criticizes them, longing for salvation for the holy people, pondering the mystery of the course of history and awaiting the calendar of world history to reach its expected end with the destruction of this last human empire.

With the death of Herod, direct Roman administration took over, and relations between Jews and Romans steadily deteriorated during the 1st century CE until, for a variety of reasons, the Jews finally took to war, a war which lost them their Temple and ruined Jerusalem, a city already run by warring extremist religious groups. During this war, according to the archaeological evidence, the Romans also attacked the settlement at Qumran and occupied the site for a number of years. It was in the region of the Judean desert, in fact, that the resistance to Rome lingered. The last defiant band of fighters retreated to Masada and was overcome in 74 CE. The connection between this group, the scrolls and the occupants of caves was found at Masada (the Songs of the Sabbath Sacrifice) and there may have been other 'Qumran' scrolls too, encouraging some scholars to think that the inhabitants of Qumran participated in this final stand. Whether or not this was the case, the final episode of the war of the children of light against the children of darkness, staged in Herod's Idumaean fortress could be said to have ended here, and not as foreseen in the Qumran War Scroll. By this time the scrolls were already in the caves, perhaps hidden to protect them from the ravages of the Romans or in the hope of later retrieval. But in the wake of this war, and the destruction of the Jerusalem Temple, new religious systems were to emerge, including rabbinic Judaism and Christianity, and the heritage preserved in the Qumran scrolls was to be submerged for 2,000 years.

The story of the Jewish struggle against the Romans – and indeed of the occupation of Qumran – was not quite over, however. In 132 CE another revolt occurred, led by Simon Bar Kokhba, who took the name Bar Kokhba (son of the star). He too issued coins, and traces of his occupation exist in the Judean wilderness. We even have letters written by him or on his behalf. But after three years of fighting he too was defeated, and Jerusalem rebuilt as a Roman city, and Jews expelled from it.

Ever since the first scrolls were found in the Judean desert in 1947, the Dead Sea Scrolls have been the subject of passionate speculation and controversy. The possibility that they might challenge assumptions about ancient Judaism and the origins of Christianity, coupled with the extremely limited access imposed for many years, only fueled debate on their meanings.

With numerous factfiles, reconstructions, scroll photographs, and a wealth of other illustrations, it is the most comprehensive and accessible account available on the Dead Sea Scrolls. 84 color and 132 black-and-white illustrations

ARK OF THE COVENANT(Hebrew, אֲרוֹן הַבְּרִית, etc.: for the complete list of names of the Ark, see below).

(Redirected from CHEST.)

By: Morris Jastrow, Jr., Charles J. Mendelsohn, Marcus Jastrow, Isaac Husik, Duncan B. McDonald, George A. Barton

Dimensions and Construction.

—Biblical Data:

The first mention of the Ark in the Bible is in Ex. xxv. 10 et seq., where Moses on Mount Sinai is told to have an Ark of shittim-wood made for the Commandments which are about to be delivered. Minute directions are given for the plan of the Ark. It is to be 2½ cubits in length, 1½ in breadth, and 1½ in height. It is to be overlaid within and without with gold, and a crown or molding of gold is to be put around it. Four rings of gold are to be put into its corners—two on each side—and through these rings staves of shittim-wood overlaid with gold for carrying the Ark are to be inserted; and these are not to be removed. A golden cover (Hebr. כִּסֵּא; A. V., "mercy-seat"), adorned with golden cherubim, is to be placed above the Ark; and from here the Lord says He will speak to Moses (Ex. xxv. 10-22). The Ark is to be placed behind a veil, a full description of which is given (ib. xxvi. 31-33).

Ark of the Covenant.(After Calmet.)

Sanctity and Consecration.

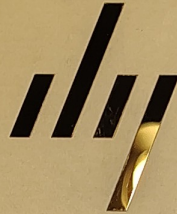

Even Aaron was forbidden to enter this place of the Ark too often; and he was enjoined to perform certain ceremonies when entering there (Lev. xvi. 2 et seq.). Moses was directed to consecrate the Ark, when completed, with the oil of holy ointment (Ex.

Dear Friends,

Children's Village welcomes the New Year with renewed vigor and dedication. The number of children at risk is growing. Our effort to help these troubled youngsters - many of whom are orphaned or come from dysfunctional families - is on the rise.

Our children regard Children's Village at their home-away-from-home. The supportive, energetic staff provides these youngsters with a warm and loving environment. Modern facilities, geared to meet the children's needs, assure them professional personal care within secure surroundings.

At Children's Village the welfare of every child is our primary concern. Thank you for sharing this sacred challenge with us.

Best wishes for health and happiness throughout the upcoming year!

Children's Village of Jerusalem | Significant Information

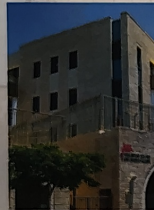

Founded in 1994 by Rabbi Weingarten, Children's Village of Jerusalem - is the home away from home for hundreds of children at risk.

They stem from dysfunctional homes, characterized by illness, death, divorce and financial distress.

The children are attended to by professional staff via state of the art methodology, and within the spirit of Torat Yisrael.

The collaborative effort includes the Welfare and Education Ministries, the Jerusalem Municipality, foundations, as well as donors in Israel and abroad.

Our success points to the hundreds of youngsters who have had their lives turned round and now function as contributing members of society.

admired the Romans (as did Josephus), most of the preserved Jewish literature from Palestine criticizes them, longing for salvation for the holy people, pondering the mystery of the course of history and awaiting the calendar of world history to reach its expected end with the destruction of this last human empire.

With the death of Herod, direct Roman administration took over, and relations between Jews and Romans steadily deteriorated during the 1st century CE until, for a variety of reasons, the Jews finally took to war, a war which lost them their Temple and ruined Jerusalem, a city already run by warring extremist religious groups. During this war, according to the archaeological evidence, the Romans also attacked the settlement at Qumran and occupied the site for a number of years. It was in the region of the Judean desert, in fact, that the resistance to Rome lingered. The last defiant band of fighters retreated to Masada and was overcome in 74 CE. The connection between this group, the scrolls and the occupants of caves was found at Masada (the Songs of the Sabbath Sacrifice) and there may have been other 'Qumran' scrolls too, encouraging some scholars to think that the inhabitants of Qumran participated in this final stand. Whether or not this was the case, the final episode of the war of the children of light against the children of darkness, staged in Herod's Idumean fortress could be said to have ended here, and not as foreseen in the Qumran War Scroll. By this time the scrolls were already in the caves, perhaps hidden to protect them from the ravages of the Romans or in the hope of later retrieval. But in the wake of this war, and the destruction of the Jerusalem Temple, new religious systems were to emerge, including rabbinic Judaism and Christianity, and the heritage preserved in the Qumran scrolls was to be submerged for 2,000 years.

The story of the Jewish struggle against the Romans – and indeed of the occupation of Qumran – was not quite over, however. In 132 CE another revolt occurred, led by Simon Bar Kokhba, who took the name Bar Kokhba (son of the star). He too issued coins, and traces of his occupation exist in the Judean wilderness. We even have letters written by him or on his behalf. But after three years of fighting he too was defeated, and Jerusalem rebuilt as a Roman city, and Jews expelled from it.
