Stroke of Simcha

Help a handicapped mother "dance" at her son's wedding

Dear Kindhearted Friend, נחמד,

If you would have told Sima Ginzberg years ago that she would "dance" at her son's wedding, she would have wept with joy. True, her "dance" will be more of a shuffle, though she's still a young woman who would have expected to be able to twirl about. But many years past the stroke that left her severely handicapped at age 26, she is definitely much improved.

You get a big thank you for that – because when we reached out and asked you to help pay for therapy, you gave a donation that allowed her to get to this point. You have such a great zechus!

I'm writing to ask you to help the family again – to make another investment in their future. I'm asking you to help marry off their son.

It would be as if you're dancing at the wedding!

The stroke not only wiped out part of Sima's brain; it also wiped out the family's bank account. Sima's husband had to cut his hours, so that he could care for his wife and children – just when they needed fortunes of money, to pay for therapy and care.

And now they have no funds for the wedding!

The chossan already suffered so much. He was just a little boy when his vibrant, go-getter mother suddenly became completely helpless. Suddenly, he found himself with a handicapped mother, helping her button her coat, and even helping her get a spoon to her mouth!

Now he needs you, to help him get to the chuppah.

The family needs to pay for half of the wedding, and buy everything the chossan needs – a suit, shoes, hats, and so much more. Even the simplest wedding today costs a fortune!

Over, please

Your contribution today helps establish a boy's ne'eman b'Yisroel. It gives Sima's son a new start. And it grants her the joy of dancing at her son's wedding – even if the only dance step she can manage is a walk-shuffle.

Please send as much as you can today, because the wedding is in a few weeks, and Sima is counting on you.

Tiki I'mitzvos!

P.S. If you split the word מרקדו – to dance, you get דין – erase din. When you help Sima dance at her son's wedding, you erase difficult judgments, and merit great brachah. Send your wedding gift today.

STORIES AND ARTICLES

Clifford, combat soldier in the Golani Brigade: These were the most difficult and most significant 18 months of my life. I feel like I gave something to my country. I did something I dreamed of doing all my life and I gained friends for life.

Sarah, combat soldier in the Artillery Brigade: I feel that being a soldier in the IDF gives me meaning and a reason to wake up in the morning. I feel that I am doing something for a bigger cause.

Jacob, combat soldier in Paratroopers: After drafting through Mahal, I had an amazing service. I learned what it means to give from myself and pushed myself further than I ever thought I could. I not only learned about the army and Israel, but learned about myself as well.

A street in an evacuated settlement was named after him by the residents, and his heroism has been evoked by right-wing activists as a symbol of resistance to the disengagement from the Gaza Strip. But for Avi Bieber, the first IDF soldier to refuse military orders in the run-up to the summer evacuation, fame and publicity were the last things on his mind. Even now, close to half a year later, Bieber still speaks about the incident on the Gaza Strip sand dunes with a mixture of anger and excitement. Freshly discharged from the army, Bieber, whose family made aliya from New Jersey nine years ago, speaks freely about his refusal of orders and what pushed him to disobey the military he said he still loved. "Everyone knew I wasn't going to participate in the evacuation and it is as
